

The Shropshire Hills Landscape Trust

A Decade of Community Conservation investment in the

Pine Marten Magic, restoring nature with you, me and our children

Wednesday 1st July, 6.30 - 8.30pm

Mayfair Centre, Church Stretton, SY6 6BL

Illustrated talk by Sue Crichton.

Pine Martens are England's rarest mammals and were thought to be extinct in Shropshire for over 100 years. More recently they are being found in local hubs. The Conservation Fund has supported community projects to study the behaviour and distribution of pine martens in the Shropshire Hills.

The talk is free to attend. We ask for a £5.00 donation which will cover hall hire and refreshments, with all additional contributions going to our 10th Anniversary Conservation Fund. Every pound helps us say 'yes' to more community projects protecting the Shropshire Hills.

To book your place email shropshirehills-nl@shropshire.gov.uk or call 01743 254740 or click here to book online.
